Drobot to represent St. Paul Conservatives

Over a hundred staunch supporters braved near-blizzard conditions last Wednesday evening to see incumbent MLA John Drobot declared the Progressive Conservative nominee for the St. Paul provincial constituency, by acclamation.

Drobot has represented this area in the Legislature since 1982, following a 21-year career in county politics as councillor, reeve and school board member.

In accepting the nomination, Drobot said 'I feel very humble...a MLA is only as good as the support given to him by his constituents.' He thanked the PC local and his network of 30 directors from throughout the constituency for 'keeping me on the straight and narrow path.'

Drobot's decision to seek a third term came about 'through consultation with you, the people of St. Paul,' he said, assuring those present that 'the constituency and its people are my first concern.' Drobot presently sits on eleven caucus committees, 'making decisions that affect the lifestyle in this community.'

Enrichment of that lifestyle through the building of roads and bridges, loans and grants to farmers and small businesses, construction of senior citizens' residences, the St. Paul Hospital addition, new courthouse and transportation building were noted by Drobot, who said that 'the people who support this government are making this

IT'S A BOY! — Elk Point Hospital's 1989 New Year's Baby finally arrived at 2:29 a.m. on Friday, January 20. Proud mom Stephanie Cardinal accepts a hamper of baby needs and the loan of a car seat from Jane Mahon of the Elk Point Lioness Club for her beautiful little son, Evan Neil, while Edward Abraham looks on. The traditional beaded buckskin mossbag was crafted by Mary Louise Cross.

Byelection called

Prime Minister Brian Mulroney has called a byelection in the Beaver River Riding for Monday, March 13.

The byelection will fill the vacant seat caused by the death of Progressive Conservative John Dahmer, of bone cancer, just five days after winning the November 21, 1988, federal election.

During last fall's election, the Conservatives won in the Beaver River Riding by quite a large margin. Their nomination of a candidate to represent them in the byelection has sparked considerable interest, with nine people vying for the candidature. The Progressive Conservative nomination meeting is scheduled for January 28th in Glendon.

Deborah Grey, who represented the Reform Party in last November's election, has won their nomination for a second time, and will campaign for the Reform Party in the byelection.

The Liberal Party nomination meeting is slated for February 9th, in Smoky Lake. At this time, only one person, Ernie Brousseau, has declared his intention of seeking nomination for the Liberals.

No plans for nominations of a candidate have been announced by the New Democratic Party.

It is anticipated, that with the Free Trade issue settled, campaigns will focus on issues particularly relevant to the constituents of Beaver River Riding.

Eugene Chaba will once again hold the position of Returning Officer, with an office at 4931 - 49 Street, Redwater, Alberta (Phone: 942-3800). Dates for advance polls have been set as March 4, 6 and 7th.

Annual meeting plans underway

Planning for the 1989 Annual meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce got underway at last week's regular meeting, with Frank Mayner and Bill Tremblay spearheading a committee to work on details of the event. A dinner meeting format was decided upon, to take place in the latter half of February.

Ruth Vogel of the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club was on hand to tell the Chamber about the Club's plan to carry pledges from groups, businesses and individuals to the Associated Canadian Travellers' Miracle '89 Telerama. The dancers will appear on CFRN television on Sunday, January 29 at 11 a.m. to make the presentations, and plan to carry with them a large sign listing all the donors. The Chamber does not usually make contributions of this nature, but decided to support our young people in this endeavor with a one-time donation of $76, sufficient to pay for one square foot of the ACT building project.

United Church in dissent

The following statement has been issued by the Elk Point United Church congregation: "We are dissenting against the action of the 32nd General Council in approving the statement on membership, ministry, and human sexuality. We also are against the action and procedures of the General Council Executive in dealing with these and other issues. We are also expressing our non-confidence in the General Council Executive and the Alberta Conference Executive.

"We as a local church will not recommend practicing gay people for ordination or commissioning. As a local church, we will not receive practicing gay people as ministers in our church.

"Because we have become a dissenting Church, an Alternatives Committee has been formed. The role of the committee is to gather information and identify alternative actions for dealing with the issues arising from the General Council's statement.

"This committee is an enabling or resource committee, so that the congregation can make the decisions. They as a committee would welcome input from all those concerned."

Committee members are: Donna Babcock, Ruth Vogel, Lillian Demchuk, Irene Miller, Franklin Wolters, ex officio member Gordon Kuhn, Chairperson Sharil Baumgardner and Secretary Edith Mitchell.

OILMEN DONATE TO TELERAMA — Elk Point Oilmen's Association President Craig Stone presents Ruth Vogel of the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club with a cheque which will be presented by the Ukrainian Dancers at the ACT Telerama on Saturday, January 29 at 11 a.m. on CFRN-TV. Other donations to date have been made by the Elks Lodge, F.G. Miller High School, 4-H Multi Club, the Ukrainian Dance Club and Mary and Neil Nelson.

Nine candidates have placed their names in nomination, they are:

happen.'

Looking over his audience of farmers, small business owners, seniors, school teachers and those of many other occupations, Drobot affirmed that 'the people at grassroots level are the foundation of this party.'

Constituency President Dwayne Young introduced the evening's guest speaker, Minister of Career Development and Employment Ken Kowalski, MLA from Barrhead.

Kowalski outlined the events of the 34 months since the last provincial election, which include very strong economic recovery, increased confidence, a determined plan to reduce the provincial deficit, unique initiatives, steps to protect the rights of the province, and 'tremendous national recognition for the Alberta-born initiative for free trade.'

Substantial drops in unemployment figures which presently give Alberta the second lowest unemployment rate in Canada, coupled with the fastest economic growth rate in the nation, are seen as great progress by Kowalski, but he said he 'will not be happy until every Albertan has an employment opportunity.'

In closing, Kowalski urged those present to take up 'the unique and exciting challenge of working as a team to re-elect the finest wit, the most sincere gentleman in the Government of Alberta. You can make it happen...please do.'

Alcohol, drug awareness seminar

By Cst. Doug Huskins

The use of illicit drugs appears to have infiltrated almost every aspect of our society, from the down and outers on Slum Street to the most elite of our sports and entertainment heroes. Enforcement alone cannot control or remove this menace from our lives. Combined with public awareness and education, however the goal of a drug free life for ourselves and our children is much more of a reality.

With this in mind, please accept my invitation to attend our Drug Awareness Seminar on Monday, January 30, at 7 p.m. at the F.G. Miller High School. The Family Community Support Services, in conjunction with A.A.D.A.C. and the Elk Point R.C.M.P. Detachment, will provide an opportunity for adults and young people to share with us a greater knowledge of the drug problem, and how it affects each of us.

The program will commence with addresses to all in attendance, followed by the audience being split into a group of parents and another consisting of the young people. Each group will be encouraged to share their concerns, without 'Mom & Dad', or 'the kids' listening. I'll go with 'Mom & Dad', as both a police officer and a concerned parent, so "the kids" won't have to worry about me listening, either.

A drug kit will be on display, for those of us, "who wouldn't know a drug if it dropped on my head". Conversation regarding the effects of drugs on the body as well as the legal aspects of drug enforcement will hopefully allow everyone to attain a greater appreciation of just what we are dealing with. I sincerely hope that each of you reading this article will circle next Monday on the calendar and help us make the night a success.

Chamber notes

ing material being removed from the Chamber of Commerce bulletin board, located between the Centre Point Mall and Sew 'N' Knit, were discussed, along with the need for giving the signboard a much needed facelift in the spring. It was noted that the actual purpose of the board is to advertise community events, rather than for business advertising, and that posters pertaining to events should be removed after the events are over, so space for advertising future events is available.

Town Councillor Ed Buck

reported briefly on the Town's meeting with Amoco. Buck said Amoco has transferred five workers out of the Elk Point area, has brought one in, and do not plan further changes at the present time, with all future decisions hinging on the rise and fall of oil prices.

Historical Society President Frank Mayner reported on a visit to Elk Point by the archaeological staff who will be working at the Fort George - Buckingham House site this summer. Some local workers will be hired, he indicated.

Fort project to start in spring

By Irene Magnusson

The Elk Point Historical Society, in the fall of 1988, received funding, under the Canada-Northern Development Agreement, toward development of the Ft. George - Buckingham House Sites project.

Constructed by the NorthWest Trading Company and the Hudson's Bay Company around 1792, then abandoned by 1800, the two forts have been the focus of historical and archaeological research sporadically since the mid 1960's. Fort George will again be the centre of archaeological excavations in the coming summer.

Michael Forsman, of the Archaeological Survey of Alberta, will supervise the excavations on behalf of the Elk Point Historical Society. Mr. Forsman brings extensive experience to the project, having directed excavations on fur trade sites, North West Mounted Police posts, and on ranching, missionary and coal mining communities of early Alberta.

In this coming endeavor, he will be assisted by two historical archaeologist interns, hired under the Historical Resources Intern Program run by the University of Calgary.

During a recent visit to the Site, and in meeting with Frank Mayner, Pres. of the Elk Point Historical Society, they conveyed some of their impressions and plans.

Mr. Forsman indicated the excavations will probably be carried out from May 1st to the end of July. At the same time, they intend to catalogue and analyze remains from the Fort at a "Main Street" laboratory in Elk Point. The public will be encouraged to visit the Site and the lab.

The Fort George project will possibly employ eight excavators and four lab assistants. It is hoped that people from the surrounding area will apply for these job positions, when they are advertised.

Garth Clark, one of the interns, who brings experience to the project from work on a Classical Period Roman villa, in discussing the excavation problems commented on the need for further work. Fort George is a very complex site, that underwent almost continual expansion, changes and renovations.

As only about one-tenth of the site has been excavated, there is an incomplete understanding of the whole construction sequence of the fort. Before research will be directed towards resolving this problem, mitigation (reinforcement?) and testing of the area where the Visitor Reception Centre will be located must be done to ensure that nothing of historical value will be lost.

Michelle Belanger, who has previous experience on a 9,000-year-old "early man" site in northern Alberta, is the intern who will be supervising the laboratory activities. She is concerned about the artifacts and faunal remains (bones) previously recovered, as well as those that will be excavated this summer.

There are over three hundred boxes of materials already in storage, but not all of it has been analyzed. In order to maintain control over the artifacts, and to produce informative reports in a timely manner, two computers will be used.

The Elk Point and District Historical Society hopes people in the Elk Point area will take advantage of the opportunity to watch these archaeological activities in action, and of the employment opportunities, as they come up.

Elks win over Pontiacs, Packers

Elk Point Elks thrilled two enthusiastic weekend crowds with a pair of victories, defeating the league-leading Bonnyville Pontiacs 4 to 2 on Friday evening, and winning over the Cold Lake Packers 6 to 4 on Sunday afternoon.

ELKS 4, PONTIACS 2 Friday's first period saw a total of 61 minutes in penalties assessed, as the Centennial League's top two teams battled it out, with far more attention given to defensive action than to goal scoring. Pontiac Ned Brand was the first of seven players to win a game misconduct, when he wrestled Terry Wozniak to the ice and proceeded to pound on him, switching the scuffle to the referees as Wozniak was helped from the ice at the 12:00 minute mark of the period. Wozniak was not badly injured and returned to the ice some three minutes later to score the lone first period goal, assisted by Troy Lorenson and Kerry Loughran.

The Elks took a two-goal lead in the first minute of the second period, with a goal by Troy Lorenson, assisted by Murray Cochrane, but the margin went back to a single point 51 seconds later when Dan Sharun scored the first Bonnyville goal of the game, off assists by Garth Campbell and Denis Fontaine. The majority of second period action took place in front of the Bonnyville net, but no more goals met their mark during the remaining 18 and a half minutes of the period, and only four minor penalties went to each team.

The third period saw a revival of the fighting spirit, with 2 and 3 players in each penalty box at a time. The Elks' George Ward scored the first goal, off assists by Glen Bodnar and Murray Scoggins, just over five minutes into the period. Bodnar later got into a shirt-shredding match with Pontiac Glen Dutertre, which sent them both out of the game. Bonnyville's Gilles Choquet sought to even up the score somewhat, with an unassisted shot sailing over the prone Elks goalie into the net.

Temper were still smoldering, and Brian Popowich of the Pontiacs and Jeff Buck of the Elks were the next pair to resort to mid-period fisticuffs, giving both an early retirement from the game. At one point in the period, three Elks kept five Pontiacs at bay until both teams were at full strength.

Troy Lorenson scored the final goal to give the Elks a 4-2 win, with 2:36 left in the game, but the rivalry continued to the last seconds, with Allan Loughran and Bonnyville's Sylvio Vasseur battling their way to a pair of game misconducts with just two seconds to go.

ELKS 6 - PACKERS 4 Sunday's game showed more very competitive action, but far less aggression.

The first period got off to an inauspicious start for the home team, as the visiting Packers scored two goals in the first 3 minutes, and another just before the 8-minute mark. Yves St. Denis, Tim Pettit and Chris Boisvert were Cold Lake's scorers, with assists by Guy Dubeau, Boisvert, Kean Doherty, Rob Blick, Brian Frank and Bill Moon. The Packers' goalie held all Elks' attempts at bay, even when the Packers had three men in the penalty box.

The second period belonged entirely to the Elks, with four goals hitting their mark, and speculation mounting that the goal at the far end of the arena was impenetrable. Alain Leclerc, Troy Lorenson and George Ward with a pair of goals gave the Elks a one-goal lead, assists coming from Lorenson, Kerry Loughran, Glen Bodnar, Mike Boratyne and Marvin Ference.

A Packers goal 9 minutes into the third period, by Bill Moon off an assist by Perry Stadler, was the eighth goal to go into the east net. Five and a half minutes later, Troy Lorenson broke the 4-4 tie and the west end jinx, with a goal assisted by Murray Cochrane, and followed this up with an unassisted, shorthanded goal off a breakthrough to give the Elks a final 2-point lead.

This weekend's Centennial League schedule shows a return engagement for the Elks in Cold Lake on Thursday night at 8:30 p.m., and the Elks' home game against the Goodfish Flames on Sunday rescheduled to 7:00 p.m., due to the B & R No-Hit Tournament.

No changes for Amoco

Amoco Canada's Divisional Vice President of Heavy Oil, Bob Scarborough, was in Elk Point last week to meet with Town Council for a discussion of Council's concerns regarding changes in local operations.

Scarborough assured Council that Amoco's activity in the Lindbergh field will remain at the present level, with no further changes planned due to the merger of Amoco and Dome Petroleum. Five people were transferred out of the Elk Point area, and one into the area at the time of the merger.

The importance of heavy oil reserves is being stressed in future planning, noted Scarborough, who promised to keep Council informed.

Miracle makers

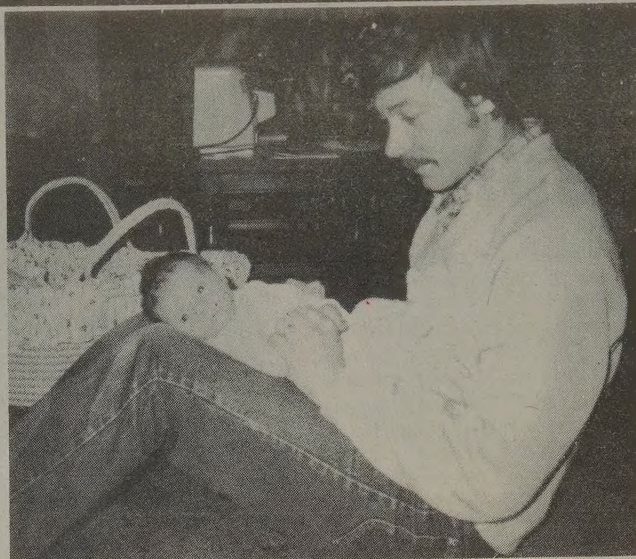

A miracle is taking shape, right before our eyes and the eyes of other northern Alberta communities.

Next weekend, the Associated Canadian Travellers will host their 15th Annual Telerama, raising funds to help disabled people to live more productive and independent lives. Over the past five years, $5.6 million raised at the annual teleramas has gone into rebuilding Camp He Ho Ha, providing emergency care and compassionate assistance, purchasing critical care equipment for hospitals, improving and building recreational and housing facilities for the disabled, and granting funds for specialized equipment required by disabled individuals.

The Northern Alberta Crippled Children's Fund, which is financed with the Telerama proceeds, grants funds regardless of the type of disability, being the only charity of this type in northern Alberta. Approximately 234,000 disabled persons live in the northern half of the province.

A needs survey undertaken by the NACCF in early 1988 showed that the process of integrating the disabled and making their lives as normal as possible can best be achieved by helping them to live independently, with easily accessible and specially equipped housing. To achieve this, considerable funding will be needed.

Help make the miracle happen with your donations.

Winter sorting time

By Irene Magnusson

I know it's not 'spring cleaning' time, so it must be 'winter sorting time' - that other urge that comes over us, when there is a cold winter day, a bit of wind, and no place we absolutely have to go.

These are the days for cleaning out drawers, tidying the closets, sorting the papers - even to working the handicrafts received for Christmas gifts. It hasn't been all that cold, but the wind blew, I was too lazy to go out and I'd finished my last book. Some boxes of papers got my attention. There was this pencil-scribbled comment, jotted on the back of some government-printed letter (they use good quality paper, one side only, and I use their blank side for many of my scribbles). The date on the letter was early 1985.

"In the weeks following Cliff's death (my husband) I received letters and cards from family and friends containing pictures of their young children or grandchildren. It was as though they were offering to share with me their hope, their best-in-life - these beautiful bubbling youngsters for whom they live - saying, 'See, life goes on, begins anew, to compensate for death. Touch these warm young bodies with your mind...to ease your heart.'"

"And so it does. Despair cannot be so deep one cannot rise up through it to smile on an innocent child, to pat a tousled head, to return a hug from soft young arms.

"When anger and denial hit me - as they do anyone who loses a loved one - anger that demands 'Why him? Why the good ones, the kind, the true - when others far less worthy live on?' and the revolt that wants so desperately to believe it isn't true, it's all a gigantic mistake, that soon he will walk in the door...I can find some comfort in the laughing picture youngsters, toddling bravely into life."

"I can find some comfort in the knowledge of the small new life now pulsing within his mother's womb...who will be a baby soon, a great-grandchild, bringing his own love - who will never know his great-grandfather, but who could never exist if that great-grandfather had not lived.

"Today, in our land, less people die very young, and science has prolonged the lives of many others - but also less lives are created, shared by all the family and friends - a joyous occasion - not taken so much for granted as, say, when I had my children 40 to 50 years ago. All the young couples then - and many not so young - had a baby every couple of years, and the event went unnoticed and unmentioned on, except by those most involved. In those days parents didn't mention the coming baby until he arrived; today he is heralded almost from the day of conception. Everyone in the circle of family and friends watches and talks of his progress, in eager anticipation.

"I see this as the Hope which rises eternal, for continuing life, here on our earth, the only place we know there is life for me and mine - even as we long for life eternal, elsewhere."

So now I can throw that scrap of paper away. It served its purpose, preserving my thoughts for a few years. Having reread the page, I still believe the same is true today.

Here, too, is a portion from a letter received a number of years ago - funny enough, I hope, to share:

"Last Wednesday evening Carmen came over, and about 11:30 p.m. took her home. Just as I was reversing to return home, I got a puncture! Well, we both heaved to - got the spare wheel out, put it to lean against the side of the car, got the rest of the tools out - all very efficient and workmanlike. Having got the car partly jacked up and the hubcap removed, we came up against a snag; we couldn't loosen the wheel nuts.

"We called all the garages in the neighborhood but no one answered. On our last call we got the (A.M.A.) who agreed to send a truck down. Eventually it arrived. By now it was getting on for 2 a.m.

"He duly got the wheel off, and asked 'Where's the spare wheel?' 'Just here,' I said and went to get it for him. Imagine my surprise when I found the spare wheel was missing. At first we thought someone had pinched it while we were phoning - but being an optimist I said it must have rolled down the hill. No one had a torch, so the garageman put all his lights on, including a big searchlight, and he drove slowly down the lane, while Carmen and I searched one on each side of the road. No luck, so back we all went. Carmen and I had another go, but once we got out of the range of lights, Carmen yelled 'It's dark down there!!!' and took to her heels. Then the garageman and I had another go and many we found it down in a deep ditch, in a super bed of stinging nettles. (I let him get stung!)

"Our troubles now apparently over, I said 'I expect you're saying to yourself, 'Women drivers!'' He made no comment, but finished his job and started off, with my grateful thanks ringing in his ears.

"He'd only gone a couple of yards when he stopped, got out and said,

Light Horse happenings

By Joe Brunner

It was a beautiful, windless January afternoon with the sun adding some warm rays to the atmosphere.

A great day for members and friends of the horse club to enjoy a sleigh ride and wiener roast.

Two teams of horses, supplied by the families of Randy Scott and Morris Irvine, complete with brass bells were ready to take us across the fields of fresh snow.

It was a family fun time, so the more than two dozen persons present were from two years old, up to grandparents.

Jerry Blize brought his homemade cutter and Dobbin did a good job transporting the passengers.

On the sleighs, the folks jostled and laughed, they visited and flirted and really enjoyed the great outdoors. They inhaled the fresh afternoon air and had a one hundred per cent good time.

Some of the young people were on toboggans and skis tied behind the sleighs and enjoyed every minute of it, even falling in the snow.

Our appetites grew so we gathered around a bonfire and ate our fill of wieners and buns, toasted marshmallows along with coffee and hot chocolate.

We then moved indoors where a pot bellied wood stove sent out rays of very welcome warm air.

As we drank more coffee, we did more visiting and some planning of our next summer's horse club activities.

So long for now pardner, join with us next time, you won't regret it.

Elks helped

Elk Point Elks Hockey Club, which is suffering financially due to small attendance at their home games, received a boost at Friday night's game when the winner of the 50-50 draw, Lena Stepa, donated half of her winnings back to the club. She feels that more people should support the Elks through game attendance and donations, especially in view of their fine efforts on the ice this year.

What's new at the library

Good news for all you curlers and would-be curlers! We are showing a video "Curl Canada" on January 26 at 7:00 p.m. This video contains six instructional lessons and they are: 1. The Game and Equipment, 2. Three Steps to a Slide Delivery, 3. Sweeping - Start to Finish, 4. Basic Curling Strategy, 5. Skipping Principles and Team Responsibility, and 6. Game Strategy. The video "Curl Canada" is courtesy of Labatt's Brewery. Please come and join us at the Library on Thursday evening.

Who says small town kids can't make it big? On February 1, (Wednesday) 7:30 p.m. we will be showing the half hour CBC drama "Cowpunk" written by Ruth Andrichak. Sorry to say it was not available in our area but on CBC Edmonton. Everyone is invited to come to see the video and hear a reading by Ruth from her works. This will indeed be a very interesting evening. Ruth will be most happy to answer any questions you may have regarding writing. Since she was born and raised in our community, you may want to just come and watch the movie and then renew old acquaintances.

Mrs. Mayner continued reading from the "Magic Castle" series for our Storytime on Friday. Each time she reads a book from the series one of the children puts the appropriate book stamp on one of the windows in our Magic Castle poster. The books are great for the beginner readers. Join us next week for our puppet show.

For our science fiction fans we have the trilogy of the Malloreon by David Eddings. Book one is called "Guardians of the West", book two "King of the Murgos" and book three is "Demon Lord of Karanda." Also on the shelf is the fourth novel in the

Thank You
I wish to express my sincere thanks to my family, friends and neighbors for all their generosity expressed at the occasion of my 75th birthday celebration.

Cherry recaptures PC nomination

By Lyle Hamm

Over 2400 voters battled extreme driving conditions to get to the Derwent Community Hall, the scene of last week's Lloydminster Constituency Conservative nomination meeting.
After the final tally, it was veteran MLA, Doug Cherry, beating out former Lloydminster Mayor Bill Kondro.

Prior to the official nomination and candidate speeches, president of the Lloydminster P.C. constituency,
Malcolm Grey, told party supporters,
"I am pleased to say that all the rules have been adhered to. I am completely satisfied."

It was Danny Hosack that nominated Cherry with Myrnam Mayor, Joe Sosnowski, seconding the nomination.

Cherry opened up his presentation by saying, "Tonight I stand before you asking for your continued support."

"I ask for that support on the basis of my past record," he added.
Often referring to the fact that he spent nearly 1,000 days serving the constituency, Cherry said, "My staff and I have always looked into every concern that was brought to our attention."

Speaking about the Lloydminster upgrader, Cherry said, "Premier Getty was getting tired of my daily approaches to secure the project for the people of the riding."

"We have to be concerned with the needs of the riding as a whole," he added.

Cherry went on to add that the upgrader project will secure jobs for the youth in the constituency.

"Now we have a binding agreement that secures the future of many people and puts Lloydminster at the top of heavy oil production in Canada."

Cherry didn't get to finish his

the following courses?

cial Planning, Leadership Training,

We will be holding our ANNUAL Further Education Council meeting at the Further Education Building (corner of 52 Ave. and 51 St.) on January 26 at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend. We are looking for new members to sit on council. If you are interested come to the meeting or phone me at 724-4101. If you are not interested you can still come and see what we are all about. For Further Ed. to be successful in the community
we need your support.

presentation but quickly added,
"Agriculture is the life-blood of this area. If the farmers are hurting, then everybody suffers."

It was Cam Hancock that introduced and nominated Bill Kondro.

Kondro entered the platform opposite Cherry and told party supporters, "I am a friend of Doug Cherry's, have been, and always will be."

Referring to the discontent and questions that had been going around the constituency since he initiated his campaign, Kondro said, "I'm running for this nomination because I feel I have the background in community organizations, community projects, and service clubs."

"I have given much of my time to the community of Lloydminster and there have been times when my family was left out because of it."

Kondro added, "I'm prepared to sit down with each and everyone of you and talk about your concerns. I don't wear a suit everyday and I can come right to your farm."

Kondro ended by saying, "I'm not here to divide the party. If I win I hope I get Doug's support because if he wins he has mine."

There were a total of 2,408 votes cast with six spoiled.

Cherry returned to the platform afterwards and said, "This is the happiest moment in my life."

"Bill Kondro was a real challenge," he added.

NORTH EASTERN ALBERTA HEALTH UNIT

Heat helps osteoarthritis

What can I do to relieve the pain caused by osteoarthritis?

Heat in any form (warm baths, heating pads, hot water bottles) will often relieve the pain. It is also important to eat properly and to get a good balance of rest and exercise.
Your doctor may prescribe medication to relieve pain and decrease inflammation in the joints.

I have been told I have degenerative joint disease. What is this?

Degenerative joint disease generally is the same as osteoarthritis. It occurs when the cartilage on the ends of a bone begins to wear thin. The joint then becomes stiff and painful. This can occur due to the normal aging process or unusual wear and tear causing damage over several years.

I have been having problems walking because of pain in my knee from arthritis and someone suggested I try using a cane. What side should I use it on?

You would hold the cane in the hand opposite to the sore knee. Bring the cane forward when you step with your sore leg and put your weight on both your sore leg and the cane when stepping with your good leg.

We will answer questions on environmental and public health, nutrition, sexuality, speech therapy, nursing care, dental care and hereditary disease.

Send your questions to Dialogue on Health, Box 1468, St. Paul, T0A 3A0 or phone 645-3396.

Did you see a "cowpunk"?
